

CURRICULUM VITAE

February, 2017

JANELLE GREENBERG

"The historical sense involves a perception, not only of the pastness of the past but also of its presence." T.S. Eliot, "Tradition and the Individual Talent," in The Sacred Wood.

Professor of History
University of Pittsburgh
3507 Posvar
412 648-7458
Pittsburgh, PA. 15260
janelleg@pitt.edu

Education

PhD University of Michigan
MA University of Houston
BA University of Houston

Fields

Early Modern and Medieval European Law and Political Thought
Medieval and Early Modern English Legal History
Medieval and Early Modern European Intellectual History

Employment

University of Pittsburgh

Professor 2001-

Academic Integrity Officer and Assistant Dean of the Kenneth P. Dietrich School of Arts and Sciences, 2011-2016

Associate Professor 1989-2001

Assistant Professor part-time 1978-1989

Part-time Lecturer 1973-1978

Selected Publications

Books

GREENBERG

The Radical Face of the Ancient Constitution: St. Edward's 'Laws' in Early Modern Political Thought (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2001; PB 2006)

Subjects and Sovereigns: The Grand Controversy over Legal Sovereignty in Stuart England (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1981; PB 2002). With Corinne C. Weston.

In progress: A book-length study of how medieval canon law and Roman law shaped political and legal thought in seventeenth-century Britain.

Selected Articles and Chapters

"Constitutions Ancient and Early Modern: The Contributions of Medieval Roman Law, Canon Law, and English Common Law," Cardozo Law Review (2013, pp. 1021-1047). With Michael Sechler (at the time my undergraduate student with whom I published two articles).

"'There is Scarce a Pamphlet that Doth Not Triumph in Bracton': The Role of De Legibus et Consuetudinibus Angliae in Stuart Political Thought," History of Political Thought, vol. XXXIII, 2012, pp. 25- 54. (With Michael Sechler as first author)

"'St. Edward's Ghost': The Cult of St. Edward the Confessor and the Leges Edwardi Confessoris in English History," in Felix Liebermann and Die Gesetze der Angelsachsen, ed. Stefan Juranski, Lisi Oliver, and Andrew Rabin (Leiden and Boston: Brill, 2010), pp. 273-301.

Articles on "Nathaniel Bacon," "Edward Cooke," "William Petyt," and "Sir Robert Atkyns," in The Oxford Dictionary of National Biography (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2004).

"Politics and Memory: Sharnborn's Case and the Role of the Norman Conquest in Stuart Political Thought," in Political and Print Culture in Later Stuart Britain. Essays Presented to Lois Greene Schwoerer, ed. Howard Nenner (Rochester, NY: Rochester University Press, 1997), pp. 121-142.

"Our Grand Maxim of State: The King Can Do No Wrong," History of Political Thought, Vol. XII, 1991, pp. 209-228.

"'The World We Have Lost': Western Historiography and Attitudes towards Death and Bereavement among Peoples of Pre-industrial Europe," Physicians for Social Responsibility Quarterly, December, 1991.

"The Confessor's Laws and the Radical Face of the Ancient Constitution," English Historical Review, Vol. CIV, 1989, pp. 611-637.

"The Victim in Historical Perspective: Some Aspects of the English Experience," Journal of Social Issues, Vol. 40, 1984, pp. 77-101.

"Sir William Petyt," in Richard L. Greaves and Robert Zaller, eds., Biographical Dictionary of British Radicals (Harvester Press, 1984), Vol. III.

GREENBERG

“Crime and Justice in Tudor and Stuart England: The More Things Change, the More They Stay the Same,” Law and Human Behavior, Vol. 6, 1981, pp. 261-272. With Martin Greenberg.

“The Status of the English Woman in Early Eighteenth-Century Common Law and Equity,” in Studies in Eighteenth-Century Culture, Vol. 4, 1975, pp. 171-181.

Selected Conference Participation

“That Damnable and Damned Opinion:” The Theory of the King’s Two Bodies in Early Modern England. Paper presented in Austin, Texas at the North American Conference of British Studies (Western Division) October, 2015.

“Constitutionalism Ancient and Early Modern: The Contributions of Canon Law, Civil Law, and Common Law,” Symposium on Constitutionalism Ancient and Modern, Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law, Floersheimer Center for Constitutional Democracy, Yeshiva University, April, 2012.

“Out of the Mouth of Antiquity Itself the Cause Ought to be Shown’: The Leges Edwardi Confessoris in Sixteenth- and Seventeenth-Century English Political Thought,” Institute of Historical Research, University of London, Centenary Conference Celebrating the Publication of Die Gesetze der Angelsachsen by Felix Liebermann, London, July 2009.

“Alive and Kicking: The Ancient Constitution and the Feudal Law at 50,” Symposium on Intellectual Foundings in Honor of J.G.A. Pocock. Columbia University, Conference for the Study of Political Thought, October, 2007.

Chaired and commented on a session (“The Impact of J.G.A. Pocock’s The Ancient Constitution and the Feudal Law”) at the Annual Meeting of the North American Conference on British Studies, San Francisco, November, 2007.

“The Will of the Prince Has the Force of Law:’ The Role of Justinian’s Corpus Iuris Civilis in the Polemics of the English Civil War,” Midwestern Meeting of the North American Conference on British Studies, Indianapolis, October, 2006.

“’41 Come again:’ Or What in the World was Charles II Thinking?” North American Conference on British Studies Annual Meeting, Philadelphia, 2004.

Commentator on paper panel (History and Conscience in Stuart Britain) at the American Historical Association Annual Meeting, Chicago, January, 2003.

“Criminals and Their Victims in Medieval England,” International Group on Research in Aggression, Valencia, Spain, July, 2001.

Chaired and commented on paper session "Subjects and Sovereigns in Tudor-Stuart England," Midwestern Meeting of the North American Conference on British Studies, Cincinnati, 2000.

"Hagiography and Historiography: The Long Shadow of St. Edward the Confessor," International Medieval Congress, University of Leeds, July, 1999.

GREENBERG

"Continuities in Anti-Royalist Political Thought 1642 to 1700," Midwest Meeting of the North American Conference on British Studies, University of Chicago, October, 1999.

"Politics and Memory: Sharnborn's Case and the Role of the Norman Conquest in Stuart Political Thought," Symposium on Politics and the Political Imagination in Late Stuart Britain, George Washington University, Washington, D.C., April, 1996.

"'St. Edward's Ghost' and Theories of Resistance in Stuart England," Northeastern Meeting of the North American Conference on British Studies, Wesleyan University, October, 1996.

"The Medieval Sources of the Ancient Constitution," Medieval Academy of America, Tucson, April, 1993.

"Tudor Chroniclers and the Whig Interpretation of History," Annual Meeting of the North American Conference on British Studies, Montreal, October, 1993.

Commentator on paper session "Radicalism in Late Stuart England," Pacific Coast Conference on British Studies, San Diego, March, 1992.

"Radical Theories of Kingship at the Glorious Revolution," American Historical Association Annual Meeting, San Francisco, December, 1989.

"The Ancient Constitution at the Glorious Revolution," Folger Shakespeare Library Seminar, March, 1989.

Commentator on paper session "Tudor-Stuart Politics and Ideologies," Carolinas Meeting of the Conference on British Studies," October, 1989.

Commentator on paper session "Radicals in Late Stuart England," Carolinas Meeting of the Conference on British Studies, October, 1984.

Commentator on paper session "John Locke and the Political Thought of the 1680s," Folger Shakespeare Library Symposium, Conference for the Study of Political Thought and the Folger Institute of Renaissance and Eighteenth-century Studies, Washington, D.C., April, 1980.

"The Legal Status of the English Woman in Early Eighteenth-century Common Law and Equity," Eighteenth Century Society, Hamilton, Ontario, 1973.

Selected Book Reviews

I have reviewed books for the American Historical Review, Journal of Modern History, Albion, Journal of Interdisciplinary History, and Law and History Review.

Selected Manuscript Reviews

GREENBERG

I have reviewed manuscripts for the Comparative Studies in Society and History, Historical Journal, Albion, Canadian Historical Journal, Paragon, Physicians for Social Responsibility Quarterly, Victims of Violence, Women in Politics, Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada, and the American Philosophical Society.

Editorial Board Service

Medicine and Global Survival (Formerly known as Physicians for Social Responsibility Quarterly; this journal was published by the British Medical Association).

Journal of British Studies (Associate Editor)

University Awards

Chancellor's Distinguished Teaching Award, 1989
Faculty Honor Roll (given by Student Government Board)
Golden Apples (3)

Research Grants

American Philosophical Society Research Award
N.E.H. Summer Research Grants (2)
Grants from the University of Pittsburgh FAS Grants Committee, UCIS and West European Studies, and Nationality Rooms Grants Committee

Courses Taught at the University of Pittsburgh

Undergraduate

English Origins of American Law
Medieval Law and Government
European Families
Women and the Law
Husbands and Wives, Parents and Children
Women in Pre-modern and Modern Europe

Graduate

From Communities to Kingdoms
Reform, Resistance, and Revolution
Graduate Writing Seminar
Graduate Teaching Seminar

Departmental Service

GREENBERG

I mentor numerous undergraduates, including at the present three Brackenridge Fellows who are writing their B Phils under my direction, with two more UHC students coming on board in March. One of these students, Dawson Baloga, is now researching the role of political argumentation in John Foxe's Book of Martyrs. Dawson and I meet regularly to read the sixteenth- and seventeenth-century editions of this work and plan to write an article which we will send to a leading journal, either History of Political Thought or Law and History Review. Dawson will be the first author.

In addition I have chaired numerous search committees, including most recently those of Jonathan Scott, Holger Hooek, and Rob Ruck, and I just finished a tour of duty on the Graduate Committee. Finally, at the request of the Chair I have evaluated the teaching of the following colleagues:

Lara Putnam
Pernille Roge
Niklas Frykman
Bill Chase
Michel Gobat
Diego Holstein
Gregor Thum
Molly Warsh
Mari Webel

University Service

I have served on and sometimes chaired numerous ad hoc promotion committees.

Currently I serve on the UHC committee that is responsible for choosing a new dean.

I recently served on a three person committee charged with hearing the plagiarism case of a Pitt faculty member.

Finally, every academic year I write letters of recommendation for 20 to 30 undergraduates, some of whom are going to law school, some to graduate school in history or political science, some into public education, some into engineering, while others are on the pre-med track.

